

The Head Needs a Heart

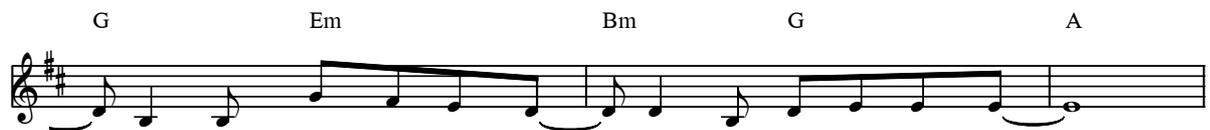

John Cologon

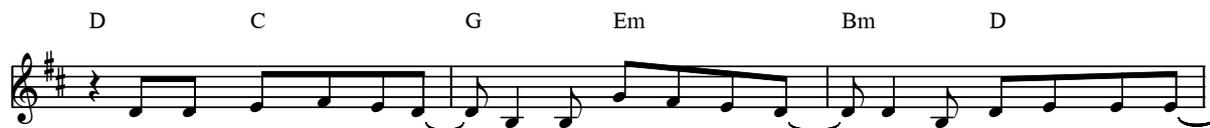

We are ma - ny and differ - ent; it seems on the suf -
Some - time cul - ture con - fus - es, we learn to comp - ete, Com - pet - it - ion has bruised us, and brought forth dep - ress

- face we're not all the same In our lack of ac - cep - to con - trast, to com - pare Fear of fail - ure de - pletes
- ion and low self es - teem Blind - ed us to the gifts

- tance some - times we can cause for each oth - er much pain us and clos - es our hearts; we're no lon - ger a - ware that we are for each o - ther and stif - led our dream

Yet, so deep in our be - ing is hid - den a Love and a hun - ger to care
Of the peace hid - den in us; the sec - ret of life, the sol - u - tion to pain Ho - ly Spi - rit in - fuse us, and o - pen our eyes to the trea - sures we find

The same Spi - rit has gi - ven to us differ - ent gifts
Each u - nique one is pre - cious, - cre - a - ted by God
As we live for each o - ther with Love in our hearts that we all need to share Be - cause when I hurt you with a pur - pose that's plain and Your Peace in our minds

I'm hur - ting me We are the same bo - dy in re - al - i - ty
